

ADAMS & Co's GOLD VAULT.—The San Francisco correspondent of the New York Herald says:—

"One of the greatest efforts of California mechanism is the safe for keeping secure gold dust, in the building of the express house of Adams & Co., on Montgomery street. It is the wonder and admiration of every one who sees it; and knowing that the name of Adams & Co. is a household word in the States, I give you a short description of the same, feeling assured that it will prove of interest to their numerous friends in the States. The foundation of the vault is three feet below floor of the basement story, and built up of solid masonry, eight feet in thickness, until it reaches the first story or office. The walls of the vault are then two feet thick, and bars of steel, one inch square, are laid at distances of four inches throughout the entire work, so that the whole masonry must be removed before the interior of the safe is exposed. The entrance is covered with two massive doors of boiler iron, one quarter of an inch in thickness. The outer door is first locked in the same manner as the inner door; then, by turning a small knob that appears on the outside, seven bolts are thrown into a strong steel plate on each side of the vault. Those bolts are securely fastened in the centre of the outside door. Inside, they have a steel chest, which is impenetrable to burglars' drills and saws. In this chest they deposit their treasure, and to it are two locks of exquisite workmanship, which would seem to defy the most skillful attempt from without, except with proper keys. Altogether, the affair is perfect.

Gen. Sam. Houston has written a letter to the Washington Union denying all knowledge of such a person as Mr. C. H. Donaldson, of Texas. The author of "Junius" and Mr. D. are now paddling the same craft, and are about equally distinguished. [Free Press.]

C. B. ALBEE

HAS again returned from the City with the largest and best selected stock of Goods, ever brought into this market; comprising nearly every style and grade to be found in the city. Among them are some entirely new styles of Dress Goods—very rich and handsome; all of which have been purchased at the very lowest cash price and will be sold accordingly. My motto is the invariable staple, consequently can and will sell lower than any other store in town. My reasons are obvious, when the staple is made, it has not got to be divided two or three times among my partners, (as I have none) therefore I mean what I say, and especially invite all to an examination of my goods and prices before purchasing elsewhere, and I will prove the above statements correct. [16.]
